Jed Lippold

Developer · Systems Architect · Product Manager

🖥 https://jed.bz   ✉ jedlippold@gmail.com   📞 718·679·4290

I enjoy building and shipping product. I'm a developer who loves to write code. I am a software architect who has designed complicated systems. I have managed a team of 20+ developers. I've done operations to scale products from zero to over a million sessions. I've been a product manager, and I've built awesome applications

EXPERIENCE

Sept 2015

VP of Engineering, IO Education
Leading integration project to coordinate multiple teams and products into one cohesive ed tech application.

Sept 2012

Chief Technical Officer, CaseNex
Building Datacation, the largest and most successful division of CaseNex, I lead an engineering team with over 20 developers. I designed and lead multiple SAAS applications and scaled applications to serve over a million sessions per month.

Sept 2009

Co-Founder, Datacation
Co-founded Datacation, a startup named which specialized in educational technology software. I laid the architecture, designed database, and wrote the code for multiple web applications.

Sept 2008

Professor, College of Saint Rose
Remote professor teaching courses in educational technologies. CITE, was a college program offered to help aspiring teachers get certified and licensed.

Sept 2003

Teacher, Herbert H Lehman High School
Moved up the ranks from school aide, to para-professional, to technology teacher, to program chairman.

SKILLS

System Architecture
Project Management
Modern Web Development
Database Architecture
Educational Technology
Full Stack Development
Amazon Web Services
UI / UX
Node.JS
ASP.NET

PROJECTS

Skedula.com
Classroom management app used by teachers across the US. The site has since been acquired by IO Education

Pupilpath.com
Parent & student web application, that receives serves over 1,000,000 sessions per month, and a user base over 750,000